

To create shareholder value by acquiring known small mine deposits and putting the mines back into production.